SYNAPTEC SOFTWARE ANNOUNCES UPCOMING SUPPORT FOR THE 2007 MICROSOFT OFFICE SYSTEM AND WINDOWS VISTA

Flagship Product LawBase Matter Management Software Compatible with Imminent Microsoft Products

December 8, 2006 – Denver, CO...Synaptec Software, developers of leading-edge legal software, announced today that their flagship product LawBase Matter Management software will be fully compatible with Microsoft Office 2007, Windows Vista and Exchange Server 2007. Support for the new Microsoft products will be available with all 32-bit versions of LawBase which includes versions 2000 and higher. LawBase customers will be able to use the product seamlessly both before and after they upgrade their Microsoft technology.

Tightly integrated with Microsoft platforms and applications, LawBase is a matter management software application that enables law firms, legal departments and government agency to track and store information in a flexible, dynamic database system.

Features that LawBase users have come to rely on with Microsoft applications including associating Outlook email messages to a matter in LawBase and being able to quickly send an email from within LawBase works seamlessly with the new Outlook 2007. Additionally, users can continue to link Office 2007 documents to matters in LawBase and Query Builder, the ad hoc report writer in LawBase allows exports to Microsoft Excel and continues this same functionality with Excel 2007.

“At Synaptec Software, we are vigilant about maintaining integrations and staying current with essential technology that our customers use,” said Phil Hamburger, President of Synaptec Software. “Our relationship with Microsoft continues to evolve as both of our companies develop new , groundbreaking products.”
